PHOENIX'S NATIONAL FOOTPRINT
Our substantial experience allows our management team to analyze acquisitions from all relevant perspectives, including:

PORTFOLIO REPOSITIONING

We understand that traditional concepts and solutions typically used over the last five, ten, or fifteen years may not be optimal today. We always seek to find the proper and, sometimes, creative solutions to help corporations dispose of their excess real estate, whether structuring a sale-leaseback transaction for an operating facility or acquiring a former, single-tenant industrial facility in need of revitalization.

TREND DRIVEN

We are adept at identifying underlying themes and nuances that cause changes in the micro and macro marketplaces that drive accelerated value creation. We can identify and evaluate inefficient markets and property types, as well as assess risk profiles where the market has mispriced the tenant credit risk or fundamentals of the underlying real estate.

DISTRESS

We understand and address distress in all forms, whether it be (1) corporate distress due to the closure of a manufacturing plant, loss of jobs, and damage to a corporate brand in the host community; (2) environmental distress due to historical contamination of a manufacturing site; or (3) property distress due to deferred capital projects and maintenance which are generally complicated to evaluate and costly to undertake.
Looking forward, Phoenix will continue applying its disciplined investment strategy to commercial real estate opportunities while implementing new technologies and adding resources.

Throughout the 1990s, Phoenix focused on single-tenant arbitrage opportunities available across the country. To this end, Phoenix exploited various market inefficiencies that existed including information inefficiencies, differences in credit perceptions of unrated regional and national tenants, and innovative Wall Street financings, the combination of which produced above market returns.

From 2002 to the beginning of the Great Recession in 2007, our management team concluded that prevailing real estate opportunities and trends did not meet its disciplined risk/reward analysis. Phoenix suspended new acquisitions of commercial property and instead focused on improving its existing portfolio.

Since the Great Recession, Phoenix has aggressively used its experience to source, identify, and harvest unprecedented commercial real estate opportunities. Currently, our focus is on maximizing underappreciated asset classes including Class B and C industrial properties, portfolio and REIT dispositions, and creatively working with corporations, banks, and other institutions on underperforming asset dispositions.

To successfully identify and execute opportunities in a dynamic and changing marketplace, Phoenix has built a talented team of professionals across all levels of its business, providing them with the cutting-edge technology, tools, and superior benefits including a highly acclaimed wellness program. Joseph and Anthony Crivello (Executive Vice President), both of whom grew up around Phoenix, are part of its Advisory Board and reflect the next generation of leadership. The Phoenix team has been critical to our achievements to date and will lead Phoenix to new heights in future decades.
Phoenix Investors and its affiliates (collectively “Phoenix”) are a leader in the acquisition, development, renovation, and repositioning of industrial facilities throughout the United States.

Utilizing a disciplined investment approach and successful partnerships with institutional capital sources, corporations, and public stakeholders, Phoenix has developed a proven track record of generating superior risk-adjusted returns, while providing cost-efficient lease rates for its growing portfolio of national tenants. Our efforts inspire and drive the transformation and reinvigoration of the economic engines in the communities we serve.

Phoenix continues to be defined by thoughtful relationships, sophisticated investment tools, cost-efficient solutions, and a reputation for success.
Looking forward, Phoenix will continue applying its disciplined investment strategy to commercial real estate opportunities while implementing new technologies and adding resources.
